Seniors Complete Part Of Their Lives

In 1971, we invaded Cedar Catholic, itty-bitty, green freshmen. A smear of lipstick and a dab of shaving cream, initiated, yet another class, the class of '75. We were kids with so much to learn and so unwilling to learn it.

A year passed, we were sophomores, full of ideas—some not so good, but fun. We plunged into activities that seemed so important then. Growing up sat at our fingertips.

A year passed, we were juniors. The class got itself together—we saw each other through the new dimensions of another year. We were treated as adults but so many times we stumbled. Lucky we had Cedar Catholic as our teacher.

A year passed, we were seniors—mighty, mighty seniors. Young restless, but finally grown up—enough to realize we didn't know everything. It took us four very important years to really accept ourselves as imperfect, to cease overlooking the faults within to try correcting them.

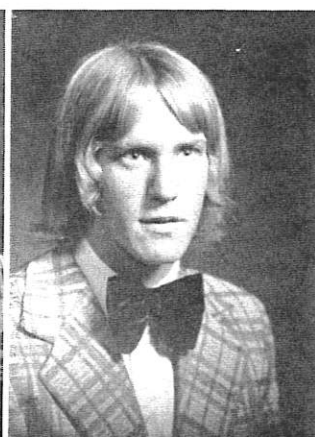

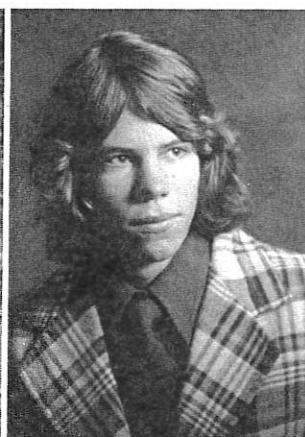

A year passed, we were graduates. We look for what we want even though we don't actually know what that is. Confused—yes. Afraid—maybe. But determined—certainly. Determined not to let ourselves down determined to be who we want to be.

We leave Cedar sadly, happily;
sad because it's a part of our lives that is over. But, for that same reason, we are happy. We have so

Thank you, Cedar, for being such

One Act Play Makes State

Cedar's one act play, "The Brick and the Rose," went to state this year after receiving a superior rating in the Districts at Wayne. Their first chance to put on the play was at the Husker Conference contest at Tekamah. Here they received the runner-up trophy next to Wayne, and Ron Noecker received one of the two best actor awards.

The play had no props and the actors were dressed in black. A little lighting was used for effect. The play was done with words and body actions only. It was about the life and death of a boy named Tommy, who tries to find the meaning of life through people, but turns to drugs and eventually dies of an overdose.

Cross Country Takes Title

In its first year the main purpose of Cross Country was to prepare for the basketball season but it proved to be much more than that. The Cedar Catholic, Cross Country team came away with the Husker Conference title. Cedar won the meet, by 7 points over Tekamah-Herman, with 33 points.

The team consisted of four juniors; Dick Uhing, Paul Stevens, Joel Ankeny, Colin Schulte and one sophomore; Bob Neuhalfen. Dale Weinberger was the coach of the team.

Cedar Initiates Techniques

The 74-75 Volleyball season initiated new ideas and techniques. Mrs. Bob Uhing, a graduate of Yankton College, in her first year of coaching, taught new ways of drilling on the set, bump and spike.

While getting ready for the games ahead, the Trojanettes knew many tough teams would give them a long battle. Yet, with a 5-10 record, the Trojanettes also took second in the Osmond Tournament.

The year's leading scorers were Joni Feilmeier with 80 points and Sue Heine with 57 points. The Varsity team captains were Carolyn Hans and Diane Riibe.

Cedar Finishes Fourth In NE Nebraska

With the loss of eight fumbles, a quarterback, and a game at Columbus-Lakeview, Cedar turned around and won 6 of their last 8 games. A 6-3 record enabled them to finish fourth in Northeast Nebraska. Besides losing to Lakeview, Cedar lost to the 1st and 3rd ranked teams in Northeast Nebraska, Wayne and Wisner-Pilger.

In between these losses, Cedar rolled over Crofton, Stanton, Madison, Bloomfield, Emerson-Hubbard, and Wakefield.

Running was Cedar's main way of moving the ball. Jon Wieseler and Bill Pinkelman combined for nearly 2000 yards. Jon set a new school record for rushing at 1154 yards. Defensively, Cedar allowed a mere 100 yards a game.

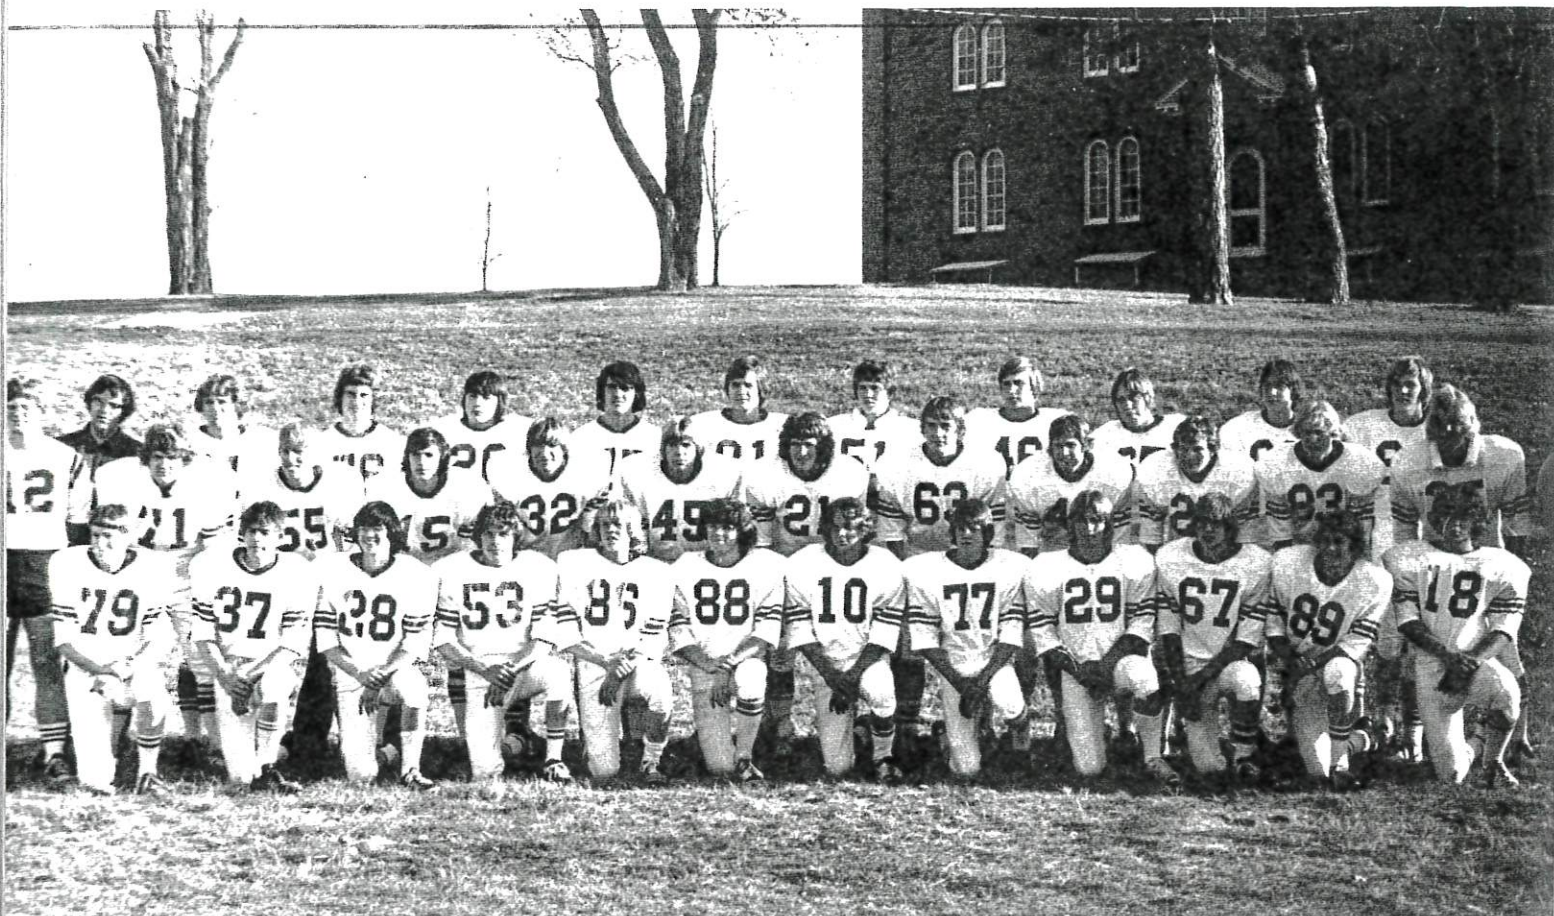

5 Cedar boys made the All-Conference Team. They were Jon Wieseler, running back; Dave Schmidt, offensive tackle; Dan Hoelsing, middle guard; Bill Pinkelman, defensive end; and Dan Noecker, defensive back. Making honorable mention were Galen Kathol, Al Steffen, and Jody Kathol. Jon came in second for the voting of the MVP of the West Husker Conference.

Jon Wieseler and Bill Pinkelman also made the Northeast Nebraska Top Twenty Football Team and both received honorable mention All-State.

CLOCKWISE, STARTING AT LEFT: Bill Pinkelman busts through a hole against Wakefield on his way to gaining over 800 yards this season . . . ## Cedar Closes At 18-5

Cedar Catholic Trojans closed out their 1974-75 season with an 18-5 record, losing in the District finals to West Point C. C. 63-41. Cedar advanced to the finals with wins over Randolph and Wisner-Pilger. During the course of the year, Cedar participated in three other tournaments. Cedar won the Bloomfield Invitational over Hartington High 57-46. Cedar finished second in the Coleridge Invitational with a double overtime loss to the same Hartington High team 86-83. Cedar came from 10 points down with two minutes left to send the game into overtime. In the Husker Conference Tourney, Cedar was thumped by Columbus Lakeview 62-39. This loss was later avenged in the regular season finale 67-52. Before the win over Lakeview, Cedar had defeated the then 10th ranked team in the state, and conference champs, Wayne Blue Devils 57-53. This marked the third straight year that Cedar had defeated the Conference champs.

Named to the West Husker Conference team were Tom Schieffer and Dick Uhing with Paul Stevens receiving honorable mention.
